MR. BUGG WEDS MISS WINGFIELD.

A Negro Child Foully Murdered by Its Mother and Her Prospective Husband.

[Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.]

Scottsville, Va., May 10.—On last Sunday at Mt. Zion Methodist Episcopal church, near Porter's Precinct, some eight miles abave this piace, Mr. L. W. Bugg, a merchant of that village, led to the alter Miss V. A. Wingfield, daaghter of Mr. W. O. Wingfield and Miss Berlies Bugg and Mr. Rhodes and Miss O. A. Elsoin. The ceremony was impressively performed by Roy. W. T. Williams, of this piace. After the marriage the bridgi party went to Howardsville and partock of a sumptoos dioner at the home of the groom's father, Mr. S. S. Bugg. Mother and Her Prospective Husband.

Bugs.

A toul murder was committed last week near Estonicville. A negro woman named Yancey, living with Mr. Garland, having a child about 4 years of age, but with no means scarcely to take care of it, had been leaving it around the neighborhood while she worked for her daily bread. It seems she had a prospect of marriage and the man told her he would marry her if she would get rid of that child. It seems she attempted its destruction at two different times, after having vainly tried to procure it a home, and she being questioned as to its whereabouts, made false statements. A respectable colored man, Nick Fortune, suspecting that something was wrong, had her arrested and carried before Esquire Garland, who, upon the evidence adduced, sent her to jail. The prospective busband was also arrested and received the same sentence. On her way to jail the woman confessed the whole crime and told where the body could be found. She said this man ther lover; had drowned the child in Mr. Coles's fee-pond. When found the body had been nearly destroyed by hogs and bote marks of violence about the skin.

Dead Sen-Fox Ashore-Personal

Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.]
ONANCOCK, May 9.—The body of a sea Onancock, May 9.—The body of a sen-fox 12½ feet long was washed ashore last week on the farm of Mr. Thomas T. Upshur, who lives near Naesawadox, in the upper part of Northampton county. The sea-fox belongs to the shark family, and is so called from the shape and length of its tail, the upper lobe of which is very long and slightly corred up like a scythe. The one washed ashore on Mr. Upshurs farm is one of the largest over seen here or elsewhere, and when alive must have been a terror among the denizens of the sea. Many persons from the surrounding country have gone to the seashore to see this rare specimen of one of the monsters of the deep.
